FROM THE PRESIDENT

Melanie McLennan

The coming of summer hails on the Highland Games Season here in Canada. The pipe bands, athletes and highland dancers have been practicing their skill and the heavy events fields are drying out. It is a short haul now to get the various games across our country opening their gates to the festival celebrants. So the question is "Which of the games do I want to attend, and when are they?" or "What games are near to where I will be over the summer holidays?"

A very useful and comprehensive website for Scottish events, here in Canada can be found at Canadian Bagpipe Links Highland Games and Festivals in Canada.

http://web.ripnet.com/~nimmos/highland_games.html#Ontario

The web master for this site, Stewart Nimmo, appears to take great care to keep this broad list as accurate as possible.

He recommends another site for international events at <http://www.maclachlans.org/games.html> although he cautions that the information is often incorrect, so double check it.

Dust off the jackets, buckle the kilts and polish the silver up, choose a location and get ready to pay tribute to our cultural heritage and have a good deal of fun while we're at it.

Our Annual General Meeting will be held at Fergus Highland Games August 14th, 2004. We will meet in the Board room inside the Community Centre at the grounds at 4:00 p.m.

The agenda and details of the dinner will follow in our July newsletter.

The Executive and myself would sincerely encourage all of our members to join us by email, letter or in person, for this meeting, as we make our plans to celebrate our 20th anniversary as the Clan MacLennan Canada Central Ontario Branch and plan for the proposed Chief's Visit in the summer of 2005. Your comments, suggestions and service would be greatly appreciated and welcomed to help make 2005 a year of good memories shared.

Our Vision Casting Workshop scheduled for April was cancelled, unfortunately, because of low attendance. We will continue to work on this project over the coming year, however, and will send out a questionnaire which we hope you will take a few minutes to comment on and return. Your comments on what you like and what you want to see will help us to enrich your Clan membership.

Our Members Directory is almost finished and will be included in the next newsletter. We have listed our members both alphabetically as well as geographically. Should your contact information change over the coming year, let us know and the changes will be updated in the next newsletter. Each spring we will publish an updated directory and send it out with the subscription renewals. We would appreciate your feedback on the directory for future improvements.

Just a reminder, the Directory is for our paid up members use only. All up-to-date subscriptions will be included. It will not be distributed to anyone outside of the Clan MacLennan Canada membership. Any member not wishing their information to be listed must request their information be removed in writing to:

Tartan Day in Ottawa

*From Celtic Heritage May/June 2004
Letters to the Editor*

Dear Editor,

I read with great interest your article on Tartan Day in this month's Celtic Heritage (March/April 2004). The mail delivered my copy the day I received an invitation:

"The British High Commissioner and Mrs. Roshan Reddaway request the pleasure of the company of Eileen MacLennan to a Reception to celebrate Tartan Day in Canada in the presence of Members of the Scottish Parliament on Wednesday, 7 April."

They could have got my name from the Sons of Scotland, The Saint Andrew's Society of Ottawa, or the Maxville Highland Games.

Thank you for ALL the interesting information in Celtic Heritage.

Sincerely and gratefully,

Eileen MacLennan, Ottawa

PASSAGES

Mary Elizabeth Holton

(nee MacLennan) was a member of COB since its inception. Born May 20, 1917 in Toronto, died April 10, 2004 in Deland, Florida after a short illness. Mary leaves a brother Douglas (Deland) and sister Flora Asseltine (Windsor); three children, Philip, Averil and Michael; eight grandchildren and two great grandchildren. She devoted her life to her family, her church and volunteer work. She was President of Home and School, a volunteer with the Art Gallery of Windsor, a member of the YMCA Board of Directors, President of the May Court Club of Windsor and Canada, and latterly a member of PEO and the AAUW. A memorial service was held at St. Andrews Presbyterian Church, Windsor. Donations may be made to the Canadian Cancer Society in Mary's name. Mary and Flora were at the inaugural meeting of the COB in June, 1985 and organized a very well attended gathering in Kincardine in 1994.

Editors Notes - by Robin MacLennan

It looks as though we are tentatively moving into summer, along with a few thunderstorms to remind us not to get too confident yet. The way the lawn is growing is a sure indicator.

Bob (Hamilton) has heard that the Fort Erie games have been cancelled. Apparently the bands have become a bit too expensive. On the plus side, the Hamilton games are on again this year at the Ancaster grounds.

We had an Executive meeting in Dundas on the May 8th. As far as we know, the Chief's visit next year is still on so we will start planning as soon as we get confirmation.

There is confusion arising as to who owes dues for previous years. Some members have even paid for up to two years in advance! We are revamping the membership slip to clarify the actual year e.g. (2003-2004). We discussed deferring our financial year closing date from 31st May (the COB started on 1st June 1985) to either the AGM date at the Fergus games or to the normal financial year end of 31 December. We hope to get some input on this at Fergus.

Known dates for the Games this year are:

Georgetown June 12
 Ancaster June 26-Elizabeth & Bob
 Kincardine July 2, 3, 4 K. Dunbabin
 Coburg July 3 J. Rose, L. Walton
 Cambridge July 17
 Durham July 24
 Maxville July 31-Eileen & Robin
 Fergus Aug 13,14,15-All
 Sarnia Aug 20-22
 Almonte Aug 21-Eileen

We try to be represented at games where there are Clan displays. If any members visit Games could you let us know about them. We can even provide you with information to pass on to interested parties who may consider joining the COB. We would really appreciate help in making the COB more visible as many on the Executive have done more than their fair share of duty. Eileen's book on Maxville goes back to 1980, predating the COB!

We moved the AGM to Fergus in the fond hope that we might actually meet some more of our members to get their views on widening our activities. The COB covers a wide geographical area but, with present email and other communications, we hope that members will at least give us some feedback on how they would like to see the Clan MacLennan grow.

On the lighter side, Eileen celebrated her 75th on March 12. For the occasion, my daughter Linda came over from Scotland and we all met up in Ottawa. We marked the occasion with two lunches, one in the Highlander pub and another in Darcy McGee's-my mother was Irish, born Sheila Kathleen O'Donovan!

Regarding my note in the April newsletter on Tartan Day on 6th April (see page 2), would you believe the British High Commission in Ottawa held a reception to mark the occasion and Eileen went in her kilt.

REMINISCE

Lester B. Pearson lost his first election race to a MacLennan!

Submitted by David MacLennan (Dundas) about his father, "Red" MacLennan.

Reprinted from the Hamilton Spectator, Tuesday May 14, 1963. By Dan O'Neill- Spectator Staff

In those days young Lester showed few signs of greatness. He was a boy in Hamilton in an era of innocence. You could buy a stick of O-Pee-Chee gum (Chew like the ball-players do!) for a penny and take a trip around the Bay on the old Macassa or Modjeska for 50 cents. Big Bob Isbister was thrilling the crowds who yelled for the Hamilton Tigers. Ty Cobb was the idol of baseball fans even as far away from Detroit as Hamilton. And down at Central Collegiate a 125 pound half-back called Lester B. Pearson looked ruefully at the larger students around him the late Orville Walsh and Reid Bowlby, "Ab" Brown and "Pep" Leadlay and wished that he was a bigger man.

Well, Lester B. Pearson is a big man today. For a long time, now, he's carried a lot of weight in world affairs. And when Parliament opens Thursday, Lester B. Pearson, fresh from visits with the leaders of Britain and the United States, will be top man.

No one who remembers the young Lester Pearson (it wasn't Mike until his army days during the First World War) claims today that he saw the mark of greatness on the boy who lived in Hamilton 50 years ago.

'Smart As A Whip'

"Oh," says Herb Moore, who played basketball with Pearson for the Wesley Methodist Church, "he was always smart as a whip. "But Prime Minister? You just don't think of classmates as future prime ministers", Mr. Moore admits. "But even as a junior he set up the signals that helped us win the Church league." IN THOSE DAYS Lester Pearson was a curly-haired, stocky fellow, Mr. Moore recalls, who was interested in every kind of sports.

He moved to Hamilton around 1910 when his father, the Rev. Edwin A. Pearson, was appointed minister of the Wesley Methodist Church.

THE PEARSONS lived in the church manse, a rambling 17 room building at 137 Catharine Street North.

Tranquil Place

Hamilton, in the early 1900's was a tranquil place.

Only 82,000 people lived here when the Pearson family including Lester's brothers, Marmaduke and Vaughan arrived.

There were few cars rattling through the streets, and horses still clipped along King. You could spend a Sunday picnicking on the sparsely populated Mountain and you could walk around a Bay that was still comparatively unspoiled.

JOHN LING, who now owns a cleaning company in town, went to school with Lester and remembers him as "a better-than-average athlete and very clever at school." "He used to like going to the old court house especially for murder trials. He used to like court procedure."

B. L. SIMPSON remembers teaching Lester Pearson at Central Collegiate "and he was a good student". The man who taught the Prime Minister says Pearson was always a good student "but I never thought he'd be really big."

Money went a long way in those days. You could get a decent house for $3,200 and a boy's suit for $6. Straw hats went for 25 cents and collars for a nickel

Early Rival.

Donald H. (RED) MacLENNAN, who wore the same three inch high collars, is now an Anglican minister who wears a Roman collar....

Mr. MacLennan, rector of St. George's Church here, was one of the few people to beat the Prime Minister in an election.

As Mr. Pearson tells it, "Red" became president of the literary society at Central "because he was so good-looking all the girls voted for him."

Mr. MacLennan denies most of the story, but not the part about his looks. He says that a rival of Mr. Pearson's rounded up everyone he could find to vote against the future PM. "But Lester got to be secretary".

MR. MacLENNAN recalls those long-ago Hamilton days as a time of tranquility although there were some pretty lively things going on around town. One Spectator story the Pearson family could have read began: "With his shrieks echoing through the courtroom and tears coursing down his shrunken and pallid cheeks, Charles W. King presented a pathetic picture in plice court today". Charles was a victim of "the scorching, sizzling heat wave" of the summer of 1911 a heat wave through which the Pearsons, too, must have suffered and he was recommended for deportation to his native England. He was charged only with "a serious offence."

Pearson left Hamilton in 1913 to enter the University of Toronto. But the world was changing and young Lester was soon to be come a private in the Army. He got the name "Mike" while with a hospital unit in Greece. Later he transferred to the old Royal Flying Corps as a pilot and before war's end was invalidated home and returned as an instructor.

In 1958 when he campaigned here, he walked silently along Catharine Street, gazing at the house where he once lived. The neighborhood had changed and where big family once lived, there were groups of roomers. The windows along the street carried room-rent signs. Cars parked bumper to bumper along the street spelled out, dramatically, the fact that the area had left behind it the ear of easy grace and tranquility that the Pearsons knew.

Now those who knew him when he was young are saying "yes, they should have known". As Herb Moore says: "You know, that Pearson was always smart as a whip."
